

LO: To write a powerful, effective speech for our Elston Olympics closing ceremony

By Erin Scragg

Teachers, peers and teammates.

Thank you for this amazing week we've had.

As we end this week, I want to share a few thoughts with you all.

First, we need to talk about resilience. This week wasn't an easy week; it was hard. We had to face tough opponents, had some injuries and we even lost some games. But guess what? We didn't give up! We got on with it. We practiced and we improved. That's what resilience is – bouncing back no matter what.

Next, let's talk about teamwork. What we did in the last week, none of us could have done it by ourselves. We cheered each other on and celebrated together.

Teamwork makes everything possible and with our determination we made this week happen and that is exactly what teamwork is about – making things possible.

Thank you for all of this. We achieved great things and I can't wait for what next year brings.

Good afternoon, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Trust.

Today is the end of our Olympic Week.

Our Trust has seen some incredible sports, for that I want to say thank you, thank you for competing in our Olympic Games this year, for organising and making it happen. From every teacher to every student, I say thank you.

We have seen perseverance, determination, teamwork, friendship, kindness and resilience. Over the last few days, dreams have come true for everyone in our lovely Trust. We've had a wonderful Olympics because we are an amazing trust, the best of the best. We have shown just what we are capable of.

This week we lit the flame and lit up the world.

Together, we made Elston Trust 2024.

This day is the end of our Elston Trust Olympics but the spirit shall carry on forever. We have even learnt from our mistakes. Be happy and keep going. This time will be remembered for generations. We have had friendships, handshakes and great respect moments in our different sports. Always be confident, you are never too young or old to achieve greatness!

We have followed big dreams and reached high expectations in the Elston Trust Olympics. The Trust has learnt so much: be determined, work as a team and most important, be happy. All of us have tried our best.

Thank you everyone for competing in the Elston Trust Olympics.
