

Tuesday 14th April

😊 Parent/carer

Your child can complete this lesson by reading the activities and working from the screen on some paper.

They may choose to print p13, to make a chart, but they don't need to and can do it on any paper.

Please, at these tricky times, save your ink!

We really appreciate all your hard work at home with your children, thank you so much😊

We'd love to see some of their work, so feel free to upload a snapshot of it to the school twitter feed - these are mentioned on page 11.

Warm up!

I have muddled up some days of the week (to be honest they all feel muddled in real life right now too! 😊).

Words muddled like this are called anagrams.

1. asudny
2. naeswddye
3. drayfi
4. uadtesy
5. trsaaduy
6. nmdyoa

Can you work out which are which?
Write them correctly, checking the spelling. Which one is missing?

Here's a great little spelling challenge to keep your Spelling and Maths skills fresh...

Mrs BC loves a game of Scrabble. It's such a lovely game for all ages, and there are even apps you can download to play. Today, here are my tiles.

Can you help me make some words?
Choose a challenge and maybe compete against a family member!

- Make the most words possible
- Make the longest word possible
- Which word scores the highest points?
(add the numbers on each tile together)

Challenge: why are the letters a, e, o only worth 1 point?

Ten minutes is up!
How did you get on?

Here are just some of the words
you might have made...

☺ Lots of 2 and 3 letter words!

☺ (4 letter) Some, same, harm, what, chat, hole,
arch, meat, meet,

☺ (5 letter) Wheat, chart, reach, march, alert,
charm,

☺ (6 letter) Relate, weasel, search

Challenge: why are the letters a, e, o only worth 1 point? They are vowels, and are in lots of words.
Letters like W and H don't appear as often and so are worth more points as they are trickier to use.

Do you remember your alphabet?

Say/sing it out loud, then write it down.

How many letters are in the alphabet?

Revise your dictionary skills!

Words in the dictionary are ordered alphabetically.

Warm up by putting these words into alphabetical order...

castle

phone

garden

egg

dog

bunny

sunshine

motorway

house

myth

bear

fish

happy

tea

How did you do?

bunny castle dog egg garden phone sunshine

ANSWERS

bear fish happy house motorway myth tea

Challenge: Create a list of seven or eight random words.

Maybe things you can see, or family names.

Then see if you can order them alphabetically.

Remember!

If words begin with the same letter, we have to then look at the second letter and order by that...

For example crisp and cat.

Both begin with c so we look at the second letter.
Cat comes first because the a comes before the r.

cat
crisp

If the second letters were the same, you would move to the third letter and so on...

Your turn - order
these words alphabetically

concrete cake crisp cuddle cougar cards candles

Tip: write the words out as a column, going down and lining up the letters.
It will help you see which letters are different.

How did you get on?

cake
candles cards concrete cougar crisp
cuddle

shoe shed scissors soup smile sunshine safe flip Friday fish frog fridge funny face

Tip: write the words out as a column, going down and lining up the letters.
It will help you see which letters are different.

How did you get on?

Final task

The Great Alphabet Scavenger hunt

Your final challenge involves a scavenger hunt!

Using the letters of the alphabet in order, explore your home to find one thing for each letter of the alphabet and record it.

For an extra challenge, bring it to your location and take a photo of all 26 things together in order. We'd love to see these on the school twitter feed!

The Great Alphabet Scavenger Hunt!

Here's an example!

a	apple	n
b	bath	o
c	candle	p

NOTE: You can make your own chart at home, or print page 13 (the next page)

Ultimate challenge:

If you still want to continue learning, here's another challenge.

Choose seven or eight random things from the house that begin with the same letter

For example c: crisps, colouring book, coat

Collect them up and write them down as a list of words. Spell them carefully.

Then, arrange them into alphabetical order.

Well done - you've been very busy today!
Your teachers miss you, and are very proud of you!😊
